

Gail Berthe
Scatter Info Where You Bloom and Grow
Garden Club of Georgia, Inc. End of Term Report,
April 15, 2015

Scatter Info Where you Bloom and Grow for Horticulture, Environment, Landscape Design was initiated by GCG President, Susanne Wheeler, with the September 2013 Horticulture issue and followed in October and November with Environment issue and the Landscape Design Issue. The three chairman Landscape Design, Environment, Horticulture have produced valuable and interesting short informative articles about various current aspects of each individual subject. The newsletter has been well received by those receiving it and was awarded an NGC Award at the NGC convention in April 2014.

Scatter Info Where You Bloom and Grow will continue into the 2015-2017 term with two new editors: Mary Lovings for the Environment quarterly newsletter and John Barnet for the Landscape Design quarterly newsletter; Gail Berthe will continue as the Horticulture Editor.

Submitted April 15, 2015

Gail L. Berthe

Gail Berthe
Scatter Info Where You Bloom and Grow